Charges Against Hoffman

Former Governor Of New Jersey Died 11 Days Ago; Misconduct Alleged

TRENTON, N. J. — Sixteen charges of misconduct, including a false bank deposit of $300,000 in state funds, were made today against former Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, who died 11 days ago.

Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner announced the charges at a special press conference today on the heels of a disclosure by Hoffman's daughter that her father had admitted embezzling $300,000 to finance his political campaigns and to pay off a blackmailing state official.

Hoffman, a Republican, who served as governor of New Jersey from 1935 to 1938, was under suspension as director of the state's Division of Employment Security at the time of his death. The division had handled a billion dollars in unemployment funds since Hoffman took over the post some 15 years ago.

The charges covered many of Hoffman's activities as employment security director, Meyner said.

Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richman told newsmen Hoffman falsely certified to the state treasurer in 1935 and 1937 that $300,000 in state disability fund money was on deposit at the South Amboy Trust Co., which Hoffman headed.

A total of $1,200,000 in state funds was listed as deposited in the bank in Hoffman's hometown. Three top division employees were suspended as a result of the probe of the division, the governor announced. A fourth employee resigned.

Meyner, Richman and State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance Warren Gaffney said they have not yet determined how the 1949 deposit affects $300,000 Hoffman confessed he embezzled prior to 1938.

Richman said the three persons suspended would face a public hearing before Meyner or someone designated by him Aug. 16.

They were: William S. Lutz, chief fiscal and personnel officer of the division of employment security; Jean A. Chianese, chief accountant of the division; Thomas B. Faherty, supervisor of purchase and stores.

The name of the man who resigned was not disclosed. Richman said he was reported to be ill.

Hoffman died of a heart attack in New York June 4 at the age of 58.

His daughter, Mrs. Ada Hoffman Leonard of Madison, disclosed to state officials a letter Hoffman had written her revealing his "widened remorse" 20 years ago to pay for his election to Congress in 1927 and for his successful 1934 gubernatorial campaign.

Mrs. Leonard pledged the Hoffman family would repay every cent of the money. Hoffman's widow last Monday was voted a $6,000-a-year pension by the state Legislature and the bill awaits Meyer's signature.

Hoffman, affable after-dinner speaker and President of the fun-loving Circus Saints and Sinners, was suspended March 18 by Meyner from the $13,500 post he held since he left the governorship in 1938.

At the time of the suspension, Meyner said he had evidence of "widespread irregularities" in the purchase of division supplies and equipment.

The day after Hoffman's death, Mrs. Leonard demanded that Meyner clear her father's name immediately. In a letter to Meyner last night, she apologized to the governor because "for almost two weeks you had appeared in a crucially unfair position."

Mrs. Leonard, mother of six children, termed her letter to Meyner a difficult one to write, "but it is warmly and sincerely largely a thank-you note."

In an affidavit recounting the letter written to her by her father, Mrs. Leonard quoted him as saying a "certain wealthy elder candidate who is now deceased" promised to meet his congressional campaign costs but did not, leading the way to the embezzlement, which "got deeper and deeper."

Hoffman also was quoted in the affidavit as saying another unnamed state official blackmailed him of $150,000 after learning of the embezzlement. The state official also is dead, the affidavit said.

Plane Lands Safely With 78; Seconds Later Bursts Into Flames

GAGE, Okla. (AP)—A DC-4 passenger plane, with one of its four engines torn off and flames spouting from the fuselage, landed its 78 passengers safely here early today seconds before the craft was destroyed by fire.

The craft, a non-scheduled airliner owned by Great Lakes Airlines, carried 75 passengers and three crew members on a flight originating in New York and destined for Los Angeles.

No one was injured and all passengers had nothing but praise for the pilot, Charles Tedesco, who averted a tragedy with his quick action.

It was no more than eight minutes from the time the plane got into distress until the pilot touched it down safely in a light rain at the airport of this northwest Oklahoma town.

Tedesco said he was flying near Gage on schedule when the fuel pressure gauge suddenly began to fluctuate. He said the No. 3 engine then caught fire and dropped off. As the plane came in for a landing, flames from the craft were big enough to illuminate trees on the fringe of the runway.

Johnny Linder, who was in the communications building at the Gage airport, said the first word he had of an airliner being in the vicinity was when the pilot asked for weather information. He said the pilot then told him he was in trouble.

"The next thing I knew, the pilot walked in on me," he added.

Halls Return From Long Trip Through the East

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hall, 1805 East Sixth, their son Leon Jr., and two of Mrs. Hall's aunts, Mrs. Lenora Jackson, Warrensburg, and Mrs. Harry Thomas, Siloam Springs, Ark., returned Friday from a vacation which seemed to have covered every spot of importance east of the Mississippi, and even some west of it.

Their first stop was Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Hall had been selected to attend the International Association of Public Employment Services convention, which had about 3,000 delegates. Mr. Hall is manager of the Division of employment for Missouri in Sedalia.

After staying in Nashville one night, where they had a buffet dinner at the convention, they ventured on to Chattanooga, Tenn. From there they went to the Great Smoky Mountains, where they stayed a few days, then on to Norfolk, Va., historic Williamsburg, Va., Richmond, Va., Mt. Vernon, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Niagara Falls (both on the American and Canadian sides), Pontiac, Mich., and Chicago, Ill. They returned Friday.

It seems that Leon Jr., enjoyed his trip to Virginia Beach as much as any part of the trip. He thought the ocean water topped everything he had been in yet. Of course, Mr. Hall enjoyed the scenery around the Smoky Mountains, the spectacle of the restored colonial town of Williamsburg, Va., and especially the well known, but ever popular Niagara Falls.

The whole family feels, however, that it is hard to put their finger on one certain phase of the trip as the best. They say they enjoyed every minute of it.

Admiral Says We Must Draw the Line Soon

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Adm. Robert J. Carney voiced support today for the idea that a line should be drawn beyond which the free world should not allow further Communist aggression.

Noting that there is a limit to the world's total human and material resources, the chief of naval operations said every gain scored by the Soviet orbit "is not only an addition to their potential, but it's a double addition, because something comes out of our hide every time that that happens."

Carney was asked in a copy-righted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report: "Must a line be drawn beyond which we won't permit the other side to make gains?"

"That's a tough question," he replied, "but the alternatives, as I see it, if this continues, are the possibility of a measure of defeat or taking a stand to prevent that defeat with timely action."

Irving Fisher Must Go Back to Work

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Irving Fisher, who has put in a total of only about five hours' actual working time in more than 2½ years, is going to have to go to work now. Fisher has been receiving full actor's pay for some 33 months for doing little other than resembling former President Harry S. Truman.

He impersonated the ex-President in the Irving Berlin musical play "Call Me Madam" from its start on Broadway through a long road tour and during its run at the St. Louis Municipal Opera which ended Sunday night.

The part called for him to come on the stage for about 15 seconds at the finale of the last act, never uttering a word. He didn't miss a single one of an estimated 1,200 performances.

Mother Is Injured In Car Wreck Just Before Child Is Born

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — An 18-year-old mother gave birth to a 7-pound 8-ounce son early today after a dramatic and hectic dash to a hospital involving a collision in which she suffered extensive injuries.

The young mother, Mrs. Jacolyn Somers, was reported in satisfactory condition at the Research Hospital. She suffered a pelvic fracture, concussion and face lacerations following a 2-car mishap, several blocks from the hospital.

She was thrown from a car and drenched with water from a smashed fire hydrant. Montford L. Somers, 24, father of the child, was driving the family car to the hospital.

Police were searching today for the driver of the other car who left his vehicle and apparently fled on foot after the accident.

The baby was reported doing well.

Dentist Says Dentists More Afraid of Young People Than Vice Versa

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Dentists take note. Dr. Stanley C. Brown, Ithaca, Mich., a dentist—says more members of his profession are afraid of children than there are children afraid of dentists.

He told the Missouri State Dental Association yesterday that any dentist can do adequate dentistry for children if he will apply himself. This includes, he said, meeting the children on their own level.

Dr. Brown, who's been in the business for 34 years, suggested a play room for the youngsters adjoining the regular waiting room, having the children come in a little early for their appointments, having an assistant who can be friendly with the kids and unless there is an emergency, make an examination on the first visit.

Construction Official Tells Of a Payoff

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Oscar R. Burden, president of an Oklahoma construction firm, testified that he agreed to a $28,000 payoff at the suggestion of Lawrence (Larry) Callanan, AFL Steamfitters Union official, to insure labor peace on a 1952 pipeline project.

Burden, president of the O. R. Burden Construction Co. of Tulsa, Okla., was the first witness at the trial of Callanan and four other AFL officials on labor racketeering charges yesterday.

Other defendants in the Federal Court trial before a jury of 10 men and two women are Carl J. Bianchi, president of the Hoisting Engineers, William M. Poster of Engineers Local 110; Lawrence A. Thompson, former business agent of a Cape Girardeau teamsters local and R. M. Secor, business agent of a Farmington, Mo., laborers local.

If convicted, each faces a possible maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Bianchi, Poster and Thompson, convicted in earlier racketeering cases, already are under 10 year sentences. Callanan is awaiting trial under three other indictments and Secor under two others.

Burden told the jury he lunched privately with Callanan at the Jefferson Hotel here on May 16, 1952, and told him "something drastic" had to be done if the job was to be completed without financial loss.

"Callanan then asked me if there would be a cent a foot (on the pipeline) in it for their crafts," Burden testified. "I estimated that would be $28,000 or $29,000 on one cent a foot."

"He said 'how about $29,000?' I told him that was high, steep too much," Burden said. "I told him we'd pay $28,000 and if the job was good enough I'd add $1,000 from profits when the work was completed."

"Then I asked him if the other crafts would have a proportionate share."

Burden said Callanan told him he would see "that the job was speeded up."

Forrest Becker, assistant U. S. attorney, told the jury the government would prove the burden firm made the payoff in the form of checks to a firm as payment for the rental of equipment although no equipment actually was rented from the firm.

Dulles Reports Reign of Terror in Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there is no doubt a reign of terror is being carried out in Guatemala by its Communist government.

Dulles also told a news conference the great majority of the people in that Central American country want to clean out the Communists but are having to face intense Communist terrorism.

He made the statement in commenting on reports that Guatemalan army officers have told Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz that he must break away from the Reds or resign.

Dulles said the State Department has heard the same reports but does not have any information from a clearly dependable source.

There is no doubt, he continued, that a reign of terror is going on in Guatemala and there is no doubt either that the great majority desire to clean their own house.

This is being made difficult, Dulles declared, by Communist terrorism which he said is dramatically pointed up by a recent statement of a Guatemalan cabinet official.

He quoted the unidentified minister as warning the Guatemalan people that any disturbance would mark the beginning of the beheading of anti-Communists in Guatemala.

Searchers Find Navy Plane Wreckage, Say 17 Men Perished

TOKYO (AP)—Searchers who reached the wreckage of a Navy plane on Yakushima Island today found no sign of life and reported that all of the 17 men aboard apparently died in the crash.

Seven bodies were recovered before dark. Search crews were to hunt for more tomorrow.

Clearing weather permitted helicopters to land near the crash site last Tuesday, and the first ground parties began their way through dense jungle to reach the scene.

The Navy said native litter bearers carried the seven bodies recovered down the 6,000 foot extinct volcano to a small railway which ends on the lower slopes.

Yaku is a jungle-covered mountain which juts from the Pacific 50 miles south of Japan.

The Navy plane crashed Wednesday on a flight to the Philippines. Stormy weather and the jungle had blocked efforts to reach the crash scene until Tuesday.

Sen. McCarthy Wants People To Get Facts

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Sen. McCarthy demanded today that the American people be given all the facts about the conduct of the Korean War, about loyalty boards accused of "clearing Communists" and about what McCarthy called a "traitorous order" by the Truman administration on Formosa.

McCarthy delivered a speech on these subjects during one of his 10-minute questioning periods at the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch had questioned whether members of the Army loyalty board should be called before the McCarthy subcommittee and asked to explain "how come you decided the way you did."

McCarthy declared members of the board had returned Communists to secret radar laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and had returned subversives to Ft. Meade, Md., despite rulings against them by lower boards.

McCarthy said the board sent Communists "back to positions where they could keep a razor blade poised over the jugular vein of the nation."

As for Korea, McCarthy reviewed the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur by President Truman and quoted Maj. Gen. Frank E. Lowe as saying thousands of lives could have been saved if MacArthur had been "permitted to win the war" and had not been "hamstrung" by the State Department.

McCarthy also denounced an order by President Truman directing the 7th Fleet to protect Formosa, the haven of Nationalist Chinese, from Communist attack and also to prevent any attack by Nationalists on the Chinese mainland.

McCarthy, quoting President Eisenhower's statement when Eisenhower rescinded the order, said it amounted to making the 7th Fleet a "defensive arm of Communist China."

McCarthy said the people had a right to find out what individuals were responsible for this "traitorous order" and to find out "whether they were Communists or merely stupid beyond words."

Susan Hayward To Testify For Divorce

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Shapely Susan Hayward is due to talk about figures, financial ones, in divorce court today.

Another sort of figure, a nude one, dashing through her yard at 3 a.m. one day last July was introduced in opening testimony.

The movie queen is expected to be on the stand most of the day under cross-examination by S. S. Hahn, counsel for her estranged husband. The actress seeks a divorce from actor Jess Barker, who has contested the trial, insisting that he wants a reconciliation.

Hahn set the pattern yesterday for much of the testimony to follow when he repeatedly quizzed Miss Hayward on a prenuptial agreement signed by the actress and her then husband-to-be.

She testified that the agreement was signed because she was in love with Barker and he didn't want to get married until he was better fixed financially.

"The document merely relieved him of the financial responsibility of a wife," the actress said, explaining that she was earning $1,700 a week at the time and her fiancé was out of work.

"He didn't feel he was well enough set to take a wife, having no bank accounts and so forth," Miss Hayward said. "I told him I would relieve him of that financial responsibility. I could always take care of myself. The document merely stated that what he earned was his and what I earned was mine."

She now wants the court to rule her two-million-dollar movie contract and $240,000 in assets are not community property.

Testimony on business matters provided an anticlimax to opening testimony of Mrs. Lodee Hazel Swain, a maid next door to the Barkers' Sherman Oaks home.

She told of how she was awakened by screams of a nude redhead, presumably Miss Hayward, screaming:

"Don't kill me! Help! Help! Don't kill me!"

A man who appeared to be Barker, the maid testified, was in hot and threatening pursuit, shouting, "You're going to sign that deal."

Miss Hayward spent much time on the stand telling of arguments over her husband's late sleeping habits and lack of work.

"I objected to his sleeping so late in the morning, sometimes until early afternoon," she said. "When I suggested that he should get out and look for work, he replied that he was an actor."

Barker's principal duties around the house, she testified, were buying groceries, turning the water on the fruit trees, buying the newspapers and occasionally helping her with lines from movie scripts.

"We had many arguments over his grocery shopping," she related. "Often he would run around and come home with bargains, things that wouldn't be fit to eat. I was always taught that one didn't save pennies on food because it does not pay to gamble with nutrition value. Besides there was no need to stint."

Former POW's Wife Keeps New Marriage

LEXINGTON, Tenn. (AP)—A judge yesterday dropped a charge of unlawful cohabitation against attractive Mrs. James Hern, who remarried while her husband was a prisoner of war.

Judge A. T. Taylor took the action at the request of the former POW, Sgt. James Cogburn. The sergeant told the court he "believed it was best for all concerned."

Mrs. Hern, 24, said she married her present husband, a 25-year-old former Marine, believing Cogburn had died in Korea.

Cogburn was released last August after three years as a prisoner of the Communists. He obtained a divorce when he arrived home. The Herns remarried.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Irene Showalter saw the family cat scratching at a hole in the back yard yesterday.

So the South Baltimore housewife went out and chopped at the hole with a hoe, thinking it might be a rat hole. Then she decided to wait until her husband came home from work to investigate further. But by the time Showalter came back, the back yard was minus a chunk of earth four feet in diameter and at least eight feet deep. Police said the cave-in might mark the site of an old well.

Fire Routs 2,000 Patients at Fort Root Vets Hospital

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Fire that routed more than 2,000 patients from their beds in 13 buildings at Fort Roots Veterans Hospital here last night did estimated damage of more than $500,000.

E. L. Wilbur, assistant manager of the hospital, said it would cost roughly $450,000 to replace the occupational therapy building, which was destroyed, and would cost about $150,000 to replace the machinery that was lost in the blaze.

There were no injuries. The building was used only during the day for occupational therapy shops, classes and manual training.

Firemen fought a winning battle against the possibility of acetylene-oxygen tanks exploding. They soaked the basement floor, where the tanks were stored, and worked to prevent falling wreckage from setting off a blast. The gas is used in metal working.

Four companies from the North Little Rock Fire Department, along with the hospital's fire-fighting team, battled the blaze. They had it under control about two hours after it was discovered.

Virgil Kuykendall, a hospital aide in charge of 120 men in a building across the street from the burning structure, reported that one person suffered a slight heart attack when he saw the flames.

The flames at the hill-top hospital were visible over most of Little Rock and North Little Rock.

Railroad Fireman Rides Front of Train And Saves Tiny Child

OMAHA (AP) — "I saw him standing by the rail on the right. We blew the whistle and sounded the bell. The child just stood there. I knew there was just one thing to do."

And so fireman Otto Gibson of Falls City, Neb., dropped from the cab, scrambled ahead to the foot-board as the train slowed down.

Leaping to the right of the rail Gibson tucked the child under his arm and the two rolled to safety. Engineer Ray Bader brought the train to a halt 40 feet beyond.

The rescue occurred on the Missouri Pacific tracks in South Omaha last night.

The father of the 2-year-old involved had watched from a distance. A sleeping man was similarly rescued by a railroad conductor in Tucson, Ariz., the night before.

Merry-Go-Round
McCarthy Accepted Help
Of Commies In Wisconsin

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It was no accident that Senator McCarthy began his testimony in front of a map with a carefully prepared lecture on Communism's growth around the world. He and committee counsel Ray Jenkins had carefully cooked up this program in advance, and the Tennessee's raspy voice turned to honey as he prompted Joe to step up to the map and give the lecture for which he usually charges $1,000 to $2,000.

Next time McCarthy launches forth on a talk of this kind, which has nothing to do with Private Schine and the reason for the hearings, here are some questions Senate cross-examiners might ask him:

1. Why did you accept the support of the Communist party when you ran for the Senate in Wisconsin? When Communist endorsement was called to your attention, why did you make a public statement welcoming it?
2. Why, if you are opposed to the Communism advance in the world, did you vote to cut the Marshall Plan, which has helped halt the Communist advance in Europe?
3. You also voted down the line with ex-Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York, the lone pro-Communist in Congress, against the Point Four program to aid underdeveloped countries. Why did you side with the Communists on this issue?

Helping Kremlin

4. Russia has spent billions of rubles to build jamming stations to drown out the Voice of America. Yet you not only voted to strip the Voice's funds, but deliberately set out to sabotage our overseas information program. Why have you done what the Soviet has spent money to do?

5. The Communist Daily Worker campaigned brassy against foreign military aid. Why did you follow the Daily Worker line and vote to cut foreign military aid, including arms for Korea?

6. The Communists booed General Marshall when he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for strengthening the bulwarks against Communism. Why did you also attack General Marshall in a Senate speech, just as vicious as any Communist diatribe against him? Why have you mailed thousands of copies of this speech around the world?

7. Russian diplomats are doing their utmost to discredit our State Department and undercut our foreign service. Why have you done the same?

8. Another major Soviet goal is to disrupt the U.S. Army and shake GI confidence in their leadership. Why have you helped them? Your attacks on the Army have accomplished more to shake Army morale in a few weeks than the Communists have accomplished in years. Why did you embark on this?

Malden Massacre

9. In 1949, a German Communist agent, named Rudolph Aschenauer, was assigned to whip up anti-American feeling in Germany. He accomplished this by sending you charges that the U.S. had tortured German war criminals. You aired these charges on the Senate floor. Then the Communists spread your speeches around Germany. Why did you lend your position as a U.S. Senator to helping smear the United States in Germany?

Stalin's Prediction

10. You have accepted thousands of dollars from little people who entrusted you with their money in order to fight Communism. Why did you use part of the money, according to the Senate report, to pay your debts and speculate on the commodity and stock markets?

11. Stalin predicted that after the war the Allies would fall apart, at which time Russia's great opportunity would come to be the balance of power and dominate the world. That prediction did not come true during Stalin's lifetime. But do you realize, Senator, that this year our allies are leaning further and further away from us, partly because they think you are making us a Fascist nation?

12. The Communists do a lot of breast-beating about civil rights. Yet there are no civil rights in Russia. They shout about the down-trodden Negroes, yet they don't care about the Negroes except to exploit them. They also beat the drum for slum clearance, though they secretly delight in slums, which are breeding roles for Communism. Isn't it true that in spite of all the Communist fuming against you, they are no more sincerely anti-McCarthy than they are sincerely pro-civil rights? Isn't it true, as FBI counterspy Herb Philbrick said, that the Communist leaders "really love McCarthy?" Don't they shout against McCarthyism because they would like the world to confuse McCarthyism with democracy? Because Communism looks much better compared with McCarthyism than compared with true Democracy?

13. Lenin once said: "When the American bourgeoisie arrests thousands of persons suspected of Bolshevism and creates an atmosphere of panic in spreading alarming rumors about Bolshevik plots, we can bow to and thank the capitalists. They are working for us."

Aren't you afraid Senator McCarthy that you are on the way to fulfilling Lenin's hopes?

Foolish Tin Economy

Among the costly economic lessons we learned from World War II, one of the costliest was the way Uncle Sam was suckered by the international tin cartel. Because we were dependent upon other countries for both the mining and smelting of tin, the British and Dutch cartel made the United States pay through the nose.

Finally we built a tin smelter at Texas City, Texas. However, our unpreparedness and the exploiting thereof by the British-Dutch monopoly cost the American taxpayers an estimated $200,000,000, according to senator Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Now, believe it or not, the budget bureau, with the secret approval of the state department, wants to close down the Texas City smelter—the only one in the Western hemisphere. It proposes doing this at a time when the referee world's stockpile is threatened by Communist encirclement of the tin areas of the Far East.

The Texas City smelter has been getting all of its ore from Bolivian tin mines, formerly owned by the wealthy Patino interests but now nationalized. If the smelter is closed down, it would mean a stoppage of ore shipments from Bolivia, thus weakening the economy of that

Peter Edson's Column—
Directors Decry House Probe
Of Tax-Exempt Foundations

By Peter Edson

WASHINGTON—While the Army-McCarthy hearings were in recess, the best show in Washington was a House of Representatives special committee investigation of tax-exempt educational and philanthropic foundations.

The $500 million Ford Foundation has been in the spotlight for the opening acts. But Carnegie, Rockefeller, Guggenheim and other big foundations are likely to be brought on stage before the show is over.

It is being emceed by Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R., Tenn.) with a $115,000 expense account.

It doesn't have the Dagnet suspense or the TV oomph of the Senate free-for-all. But it has developed a little sex interest. This was dragged in by charges that the two famous Kinsey reports were financed in part by grants from Rockefeller Foundation.

For anyone who can get a sadistic pleasure out of seeing Republican philanthropists beat over the head—the rich Republicans who put over $7 billion worth of assets into these foundations—Representative Reece's act offers good clean fun.

As a sideshow attraction, there is sport in watching a liberal young Democrat on the committee, Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, defending these rich Republicans from attack by their poorer GOP colleagues.

The fact that these foundations are tax exempt gives the Congress a legitimate right to inquire into their activities. But the type of investigation which the Reece committee staff, under Counsel Renee A. Wormser, has so far conducted is considered by the foundation directors as a one-sided, distorted and untrue view of what they have been doing.

This whole business started last July when Representative Reece made a speech demanding a congressional investigation of foundations. There is a well-founded suspicion that the original motive was political.

Representative Reece is a former GOP National Committee chairman. He had supported the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the GOP presidential nomination in 1952. After the Chicago convention there was considerable bitterness against Paul Hoffman, who had taken leave of the Ford Foundation to organize the Eisenhower national campaign.

The open charge made against all foundations in general and the Ford Foundation in particular was that they were "using their resources for un-American and subversive activities, for political purposes, propaganda, or attempts to influence legislation."

In October, 1953, however, the charges of subversion were subordinated. It was announced that they had been looked into, and there was little there. The Reece committee took a new tack.

This was revealed when the committee hearings opened and Norman Dodd, its director of research, presented his report on six months of study. It intimated the existence of a gigantic conspiracy on the part of the leaders of American education, the foundations and the federal government to internationalize U.S. thinking and direct it toward the social sciences.

What emerged was a set of charges regarded as utterly fantastic by the foundation representatives who have been observing the hearings. In brief, the charges seem to boil down to this:

Changes in the U.S. educational system in the last 50 years have been un-American. These changes are the result of a plot on the part of the foundation trustees who have spent their millions in ways and for purposes never intended by the donors.

The "cartel" of organizations financed by such grants and alleged to have put this over include: The American Council of Learned Societies, National Research Council, American Council on Education, National Education Association (founded 1857), etc., supplemented by such others as the Parent-Teacher Association and National Council of Churches.

All have, of course, been considered so eminently respectable as to be viewed as reactionary by progressives.

The new and particular villain of the plot, however, seems to be the Fund for the Advancement of Education. It was formed only three years ago with a grant of $55 million from Ford Foundation. Its purpose was openly and frankly selective research and experimental projects to improve and further develop formal education.

Chairman of the fund is Frank W. Abrams, for many years head of Standard Oil of New Jersey. Others on the fund's board include Roy Larsen of Time, Philip Reed of General Electric, Paul Mell and Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court Justice.

None of these nor any other foundation officials have as yet been requested to testify and tell their side of the story.

little nation and giving the Communists, already established in Guatemala, another sounding board in this hemisphere for propaganda against the United States.

British Would Gain

While the shutdown is being proposed in the name of "economy," Great Britain, rather than the American taxpayers, stands to gain the most if the Texas City smelter is abandoned. The big British smelter at Liverpool would be relieved of its only competitor in the Western hemisphere, thus reopening the door to the same old monopoly that cost us so dearly before World War II.

"If you look at the map of the world," Congressman Clark Thompson of Galveston warned the Eisenhower administration, "You can easily see that if Indo-China falls, the Communists will be sitting astride the sea lanes from the ore supplies in the Far East to the smelters in Singapore and the Eastern Atlantic. In such an event, it might easily be that the entire free world would be dependent on the American tin stockpile."

"It should also be remembered that the closing of the Bolivian mines would accentuate the already shaky economic situation in that country and give new encouragement to the Reds, who are already threatening to control Bolivian politics. If the Reds should take Bolivia, virtually the entire world's tin ore supply might well be under Communist control."

'Who's Wavering? !'

The World Today—
Who 'Instigated' Mac Charges?

(By James Marlow)

WASHINGTON — Just as the old question of who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder has never been answered, Sen. McCarthy may never make up his mind on who "instigated" Army officials' charges against him.

Like a man hit when he wasn't watching, McCarthy has been looking around for suspects ever since, pointing to one individual after another as the cause of his troubles. Sometimes he found them in pairs.

He began by emphatically accusing two officials of the Eisenhower administration. As the testimony unfolded, he accused more of them, and has wound up putting the blame on a pair of Democrats, just as emphatically.

The calendar tells the story: March 11, An Army report accused McCarthy and his aides of trying to pressure it into giving preferential treatment to Pvt. G. David Schine, a consultant to McCarthy's staff before he was drafted.

March 12, McCarthy accused Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams of blackmail. He said they were trying to pressure him into abandoning his search for Communists in the Army.

Both denied his accusations and later, at the public hearings, took full responsibility for issuing the charges.

April 20, McCarthy accused H. Stuart Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, of masterminding the charges against him. He said Hensel wanted to discredit McCarthy's subcommittee and head off a probe of Hensel's own "misconduct" and "possible law violations." Hensel called these accusations barefaced lies. On May 26 the Republicans on the subcommittee threw out the charges against Hensel and Army charges against Francis P. Carr, a McCarthy aide.

May 12, Adams testified at the hearings that on Jan. 21 he had met at the Justice Department with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's first assistant, Atty. Gen. Brownell, Dep. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, and Gerald Morgan, another member of the White House staff.

Adams said he told the group of Army troubles with McCarthy and his staff and that Sherman Adams advised him to keep a record on it, which later became the basis for the March 11 report.

May 17, Eisenhower issued an order forbidding Adams to say any more on the conference, McCarthy protested this was an "Iron Curtain," preventing the subcommittee from knowing who was really responsible for the Army's charges. He said Brownell and Rogers must have had a hand in instigating them, and added "I fear in my mind" he was doing an injustice to Adams and Hensel in calling them the instigators.

May 24, Stevens and Adams said under oath the Army alone was responsible for the charges. McCarthy then contended the charges were "instigated" by White House aides.

June 4, McCarthy accused Rogers, the deputy attorney general, of taking part in "lighting the fuse" in setting up the machinery for the Army's charges. This was after it was revealed, in monitored telephone conversations, that Sen. Symington (D-Mo) told Stevens that Rogers "is on your side."

Symington also told Stevens he needed a lawyer and recommended Clark Clifford, now in private law practice but at one time former President Truman's special counsel.

June 5, McCarthy said it now appeared Stevens is a "fine, innocent fellow" who got "mouse-trapped" into touching off the hearings "by smart Washington politicians." He accused Symington and Clifford of using the hearings in an attempt to destroy the Republican party.

June 7, McCarthy accused Symington of "instigating" the Army's charges, and he said Symington and Clifford connived with the "not too brilliant" Stevens in an effort to "get the Republicans to commit suicide."

Some people don't have the sense they were born with because they've been losing ground ever since.

STREET ROD

XXII
THEY lifted the hood of Sherm's car and peered inside while he tried to start. When it wouldn't catch, Sherm stuck his head out of the window. "I've got a hunch," he said. "Trouble's in the rig . . ."

"Listen!" They heard it for only a second, then the sound was gone. "Prowl car," Chub, said uneasily. "We'd better make tracks."

Link said quickly, pulling down the hood of Sherm's car. "Let's peel out."

"Hey," Sherm protested. "What about me?"

"Ride with me," Link ordered. "Come on."

"Aw, I don't want to leave my rod . . ."

"We'll come back for it. Come on!"

Ricky stood by trying to look cool and relaxed and daring, his thumbs hooked in his belt. He wasn't going to let Link take the lead away from him. "We'll take you and your car, Sherm. I'll nerf you."

"You'll be caught," Link said. "Maybe. You other guys get gone. Meet you at the north city limits. We'll go west now, and circle. See you!"

He sprinted for his car and peeled it around in a tight circle, coming in behind Sherm. The others were already on their way. With Ricky pushing, Sherm turned west, and then Ricky opened up as they fled for the city limits.

Ricky didn't take any chances — on being caught by the cops. He pushed fast, and before many blocks he was shoving Sherm ahead at better than 60. He was slightly to the left of center behind Sherm, so he could see around him, and that tended to twist Sherm, but Ricky knew Sherm could handle the car, and he bore down.

They flew across the city line with the sound of the police siren behind him. Sherm's hand went up in the air, to signal for a right turn. Ricky backed off, giving Sherm a chance to slow down and make the turn. He followed, feeling his wheels leave paving and hit dirt. Then Sherm signaled him up again, and he made contact and pushed Sherm again.

He knew why Sherm had chosen the dirt road. As the two cars sped swaying over the rough surface, they raised a thick cloud of dust, a choking, blinding screen that would shield them.

RICKY himself was almost blinded, but he kept his eyes glued to Sherm's tail-lights. Sherm would give the brakes a warning feather touch if he had to, but there were always emergencies. A bad break and they'd have to dig him out of the back of Sherm's neck with a nutpick.

Ricky chanced a glance to the rear, but there was no sign of other auto lights. He slowed his rate of speed, and in a little while Sherm signaled for another turn. Again Ricky backed off and followed Sherm into a long, tree-lined drive that ended at a farm house. They turned off their lights and parked in the shadows, where the dark cars melted into the night. Ricky turned off his engine.

The two boys got out of their cars, stretching, wiping dust from their eyes, chuckling softly. The night was still. There were no sounds of pursuit.

"We've done her," Sherm said, his big frame shaking with pleased laughter. "A couple of times I thought you were gonna get my head for a new hood ornament."

"I didn't see anything," Ricky said.

"I know. If you had seen what I saw, you'd have turned back to meet those cops."

They raised the hood of the car and looked at the engine with the aid of a flashlight. "Here it is, Sherm," Ricky said. "Your coil got disconnected. No wonder we couldn't get you started. As simple as that."

Sherm tried his car again and the engine caught at once. "We'd better shove," Sherm said. "The guys will be waiting."

The five cars met at the north city limits, and with Ricky in the lead they headed south, down Second Street, long Des Moines' unofficial drag strip. They drove steadily and slowly, just at the legal limit.

"The prowler car picked them up as they were entering the downtown area. Again it was the same policeman who had talked to Ricky before."

"Hello, Officer," Ricky said cheerfully. "We're leaving right on time."

The policeman looked at him coldly. "Where have you been since I saw you last?"

"North," Ricky said. "We thought we'd go up to Ankeny for a sandwich. It's easier to find a parking place there."

"I don't suppose you could possibly be the people who were making trouble in the west end of town?"

"What kind of trouble?"

"Maybe throwing firecrackers."

"All rods look alike at night," Ricky said. "Must be a hundred just like the one I'm driving."

*****

ON impulse the policeman walked back to Link's car. "Where have you fellows been tonight?" he asked Link.

"No place," Link answered. "You wouldn't by chance be the group that was in Ankeny tonight?"

"Ankeny?" Link echoed, scratching his chin. "Honest, Officer, we weren't as close as 10 miles to Ankeny!"

The policeman stood back while the five cars drove away at a discreet crawl. His lips were tight, his expression one of extreme exasperation. "Next time, the book!" he shouted after the departing rods.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—

Filming Life of Man Who Is Scheduled To Die On July 30

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — How do you film the life story of a man who is scheduled to die July 30?

That is the problem facing producer Wallace MacDonald and writer Jack DeWitt, who are charged with putting on the screen the life of Caryl Chessman. They are filming the criminal's book, "Cell 2455, Death Row," which Columbia bought for $15,000.

National attention has been brought to Chessman via his book, in which he details his life in crime. He has confessed 15 felonies charged to him, but not two others which brought him the death sentence for kidnapping. He has personally waged a long legal battle to escape the gas chamber but now is slated to die July 30. A committee that includes many writing people has been trying to get his sentence commuted, arguing that he's worth more to society alive than dead.

MacDonald emphasized that the film would take no sides in Chessman's fight for life.

"We will present the story in a documentary style, like a March of Time," the producer remarked. "We will be coldly objective, building no case for him or for society."

Ah yes, but doesn't the audience tend to sympathize with the leading player, even in a crime picture?

"Not necessarily in this case," remarked MacDonald. "Not if we tell the story as it was written in the book, and we are required to do so."

"There may be some sympathy evoked from his younger days. His family was very poor and he tells of how he was sick in bed and how his mother, who was paralyzed, called to say something was wrong. The boy went in the kitchen and found his father lying on the floor with the gas on."

"His first urge to steal came when he noticed other people's groceries were not the same as his family's, which came from relief. He began to steal food."

"But then he began to steal more than he needed. It became a matter of bravado with him. When others in his gang would say, 'Let's steal a car,' he'd say, 'Let's steal three cars.' Every time he got out of a reformatory he would return to crime."

DeWitt called him "a precocious boy who became a precocious genius. You can tell from the book that he studied until he knew all the tricks of a professional writer."

Yesterday's Games— National Loop Teams Can't Win at Home

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The major league ball clubs were on the move again today wondering what ever became of home sweet home.

Back in the Old Days — that elusive period when everything was better — the teams counted on building up a nice bulge on the opposition during long home stands as protection against the ravages of Pullman jumps.

But home isn't like that any more, especially in the National League.

Seven of the eight senior circuit teams can't win for losing in their own parks this year. The single exception is the New York Giants.

The Giants have won 13 and lost 8 in the Polo Grounds. Next best home record is Brooklyn's 9-10.

If things continue to go as they have so far, the immediate future looks bright for Giant fans. Both the Dodgers and Giants open long home stands tonight. The Dodgers' home stands tonight. The Dodgers' home stands tonight.

The 144 mark is the best record in the league, and the Giants against the Cincinnati Redlegs, who are 11-11 away from home.

In the American League, Cleveland, Chicago and New York, 1-2-3 in the standings, own winning records both at home and away. Of the other five, Philadelphia is even at home and the others haven't been able to keep on the plus side regardless of where they've played.

Just as the Giants' prospects look bright, so do the immediate hopes of the league-leading Indians. Cleveland has the best home record in either league—16 victories and 6 defeats—and opens a 13-game home stand tonight, against Washington.

Cleveland stretched its lead to two games over Chicago yesterday by beating Boston for the fifth straight time. The score was 13-5 with the Indians unloading 22 hits against Bill Henry, Tom Herrin and Tom Brewer. The game was the only action in the American League.

In the National League's single contest, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Pirates at Pittsburgh 6-5. Hank Sauer's 20th home run, with Ralph Kiner on base, gave the Cubs the deciding runs.

The road clubs took the honors in the inter-sectional battles just completed. In the National League the East, led by New York and Brooklyn, mopped up in the West, 32 games to 17. The touring Western teams beat the East 30-27 in the American.

Today the Yankees hit the road in Baltimore, Boston is at Detroit and Philadelphia in Chicago. In addition to the Washington-Cleveland contest, The National League includes program of three games plus the St. Louis at Philadelphia and the Braves-Dodgers and Reds-Giants engagements.

Snead Enters British Open Golf Tournament

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (P)—Sam Snead, who beat Ben Hogan for the Masters championship in April, is entered in the British Open golf tournament this year, but there's a catch in it.

The West Virginia professional, 1946, has announced he will play at Royal Birkdale July 5-9 only if he captures the U. S. Open this week.

Snead, troubled with a neck and shoulder ailment, is one of the favorites in the U. S. Open at Baltusrol, Springfield, N. J., starting Thursday.

Counting Snead, fifteen Americans are entered in the British event, which has drawn a field of 349 players from 11 countries.

Other top U. S. pros entered are Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill.; Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y.; Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y.; and Jim Tatum. Other American entries include Bo Winger of Oklahoma City and Tom Hulverson of Sappington, Mo. Hogan won't defend the crown he won last year at Carnoustie.

Mino Leads Vote For All-Star Game

CHICAGO (P)—Orestes (Minnie) Mino, Chicago White Sox outfielder, maintained the individual vote-getting lead in the second tabulation of returns in the All-Star baseball poll.

Mino has 2,014 votes in the poll, which determines all starters except pitchers for the annual inter-league contest at Cleveland July 13.

Balloting, which began Friday, ends at midnight July 3. Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals outfielder, is leading the National League voting, with 1,992 votes.

Wes Santee Cannot Run In AAU Meet

QUANTICO, Va. (P)—Wes Santee, America's top miler, won't be allowed to compete in the national AAU track and field meet at St. Louis this weekend.

That word came last night from a Marine Corps schools spokesman, who said the decision was made by Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commandant of the schools and former Marine Corps commandant.

Grand Circuit Is Returning To State Fair

The management of the Missouri State Fair has announced that the Grand Circuit Harness Racing contract has been renewed for the 1954 season. Harness racing will be the afternoon attraction at the fair from Monday through Friday of fair week, Aug. 21 through 29.

According to a recent announcement made by Ed A. Duensing, superintendent of the speed department, there are many of the nation's leading trotters and pacers entered in this year's races from the country's best stables and with many of the 1953 top money winning drivers scheduled to appear during the racing meet.

Missouri State Fair is also a member of the Big Five Racing Association that includes Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Du Quoin.

The State Fair has both a mile and a half-mile track that are among the best tracks in the circuit, as evidenced by the fact that several new records were set at Missouri State Fair during 1953.

Early indications are that there will be between 125 and 150 horses entered in the 1954 trotting and pacing events at Missouri; all making a bid for liberal portions of the $136,000 in premiums and coveted trophies.

To those who enjoy harness racing, the Missouri State Fair offers the best the sport affords.

Costa Wins Upset Victory Over Ortiz

NEW YORK (P)—Carmelo (Chubby) Costa, who just turned 20 on May 10, made his first 10-round bout an upset victory over Baby Ortiz, top ranked featherweight contender.

The unbeaten Brooklyn lad, an 8 to 5 underdog, convinced everybody except Jimmy Charles Shortt that he won last night's bout at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

Hit and run tactics won for the clever Costa, who made full use of his fast hands in quick counter bursts against the marching Mexican.

Ortiz tried to lure Costa into free exchanges by sticking out his jaw and dangling his hands like Jake LaMotta used to do. Costa would nibble at the bait, drive home a sharp right lead or left hook and then dance out of range of Ortiz's body flailing.

Monday's Fights

New York — Livion Minelli, 149 1/2, New York, outpointed Luther Rawlings, 146 1/2, Chicago, 10.
Brooklyn — Carmelo (Chubby) Costa, 128, Brooklyn, outpointed Baby Ortiz, 128 1/2, Mexico City, 10.
New Orleans — Tommy Bazzano, 150 1/2, Hartford, Conn., outpointed Al Pellegrini, 148, New Orleans, 10.

Low Burdette Is Earned Run Leader In Loop

NEW YORK (P)—Milwaukee's Low Burdette, the 27-year-old right-hander who made the switch from relief to starting roles with the Yankees, is the National League earned run leader today.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press through Monday's games disclose that Burdette, an ex-Yankee farmhand, has given up 21 earned runs in 84 innings for a 2.25 ERA. Ned Garver of Detroit, with 15 earned runs in 95 innings, tops the American League in earned run supremacy with a 1.42 average.

Burdette's won-loss record is 6-5, while Garver has won four and lost two.

Runner-up to Burdette is Philadelphia's Curt Simmons (5-5), whose southpaw has allowed 23 earned runs in 88 innings for a 2.35 mark. Another lefty, Johnny Antonelli of the Giants (8-2), is third, having yielded 25 earned runs in 94 frames for a 2.39 ERA.

Rookie Gene Conley of the Braves holds down fourth at 2.43, followed by Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, 2.72, the Giants' Ruben Gomez, 2.87, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, last year's pacesetter, 3.03.

Washington's Bob Porterfield, (7-5) trails Garver in the American League ratings with a 2.07 ERA. The Nats' ace has permitted 24 earned runs in 105 innings. Third-ranking Allie Reynolds of the Yankees (7-1) has yielded 18 earned runs in 75 innings for a 2.16 mark.

Cleveland's Mike Garcia and Bob Keegan of the White Sox are tied for fourth at 2.27, followed by last season's leader, Ed Lopat of the Yankees, 2.39, and Virgil Trucks of the White Sox, 2.56.

Ted Williams III, Nearly Has Pneumonia

BOSTON (P)—Ted Williams, Boston's power-hitting outfielder, was still confined to his hotel suite today with a virus infection that will keep him from joining the Red Sox for an indefinite period of time.

Williams has been out of action for nine days but only yesterday, when the team explained for Detroit for the start of a Western trip, was the seriousness of his ailment revealed.

"Williams has a viral infection of right lung, bordering on pneumonia," said team physician Dr. Timothy Lamphier.

MU, Rollins Meet Tonight In Title Tilt

OMAHA (P)—Rollins College and Missouri will meet tonight for the NCAA college baseball world series championship with sophomore southpaws slated to pitch for both clubs.

Rollins is expected to give the nod to pint-sized Art Brophy who handed Missouri its only tourney loss, 4-1 in the second round of the double elimination play.

The choice of Missouri, 4-3 winner over Michigan State last night, is slated to be Ed Cook, who beat Massachusetts in his previous series appearance.

Rollins has been beaten once. That was 3-2 at the hands of Michigan State, a team Rollins previously beat 5-4.

Missouri is the Big Seven Conference champion and Rollins is the smallest school ever to make it to the big tourney.

Bud Cox of Missouri opened up the last of the ninth last night by drawing the only walk sophomore pitcher Ed Hobaugh issued in the game.

Then Lee Wynn tried twice to bunt and failed, swung at and fouled a pitch and then swung at a high and wide pitch for the third strike.

The ball got away from catcher Tom Yewic and Cox raced to second.

Momentarily Yewic and Wynn stood at the plate. Then Yewic went after the ball. Wynn, at shouts from the Missouri bench, raced toward third. Yewic came up with the ball, and confused by Wynn's antics, threw to first. That let Cox travel to third.

Wynn was out without a throw. The rule is that the batter is out when he swings at a ball that strikes a man on first and less than one out.

Next man up was pitcher Emil Kammer, who doubles as an outfielder when not on the mound. Kammer slapped a single into left that scored Cox — and probably would have scored the fast runner from second without the gift throw that let him take third.

It was Kammer's second series win as he went the route in both starts.

Enjoy Kids Day At Countryview Each Monday

Kids Day at the Elm Hill Countryview Golf Course proved successful for the first day, Monday. Ten boys and girls were at the course, several took instructions and the rest made the rounds of the course.

From 1 until 2 o'clock Jackson Wilt gave free instruction to the young golfers.

George Thomasetti announced Monday will be Kids Day at the course each week and free instructions will be given between 1 and 2, after which free golfing can be enjoyed.

Cards and Cubs Bid For Two Pitt Hurlers

NEW YORK (P)—Max Surkont and Vern Law, the only Pittsburgh pitchers who have won more than two games, appeared to be the players most sought after today in the hours before the midnight deadline on major league baseball trades.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs both have talked deals with the Pirates involving the pitchers but so far nothing concrete has developed.

The Cubs, 11 games out of first place, probably could not be considered strong pennant contenders unless they could land both men, but the Cardinals, 6 1/2 behind, might still be dangerous with the addition of only one consistent pitcher.

Chicago beat Surkont last night but the right-handed veteran still has a 5-7 record with the last-place Pirates. Law beat St. Louis in his last outing and has a 5-6 mark.

The New York Yankees still are looking for extra pitching help and have been reported interested in Sid Hudson of the Boston Red Sox and Alex Kellner of the Philadelphia Athletics. One source said infielder Johnny Pesky, who moved from Detroit to Washington over the weekend, was headed for the Yankees but the Yanks and the Senators promptly denied it.

The Red Sox were been eyeing Eddie Yost of the Senators but apparently don't have the trade bait that would interest Clark Griffith.

Buzzy Bavasi, vice president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said he's been looking for a pinch hitter, preferably right-handed, but hasn't had any success.

No Matter What Ezzy Does, Rocky Will 'Flatten Him' In Bout

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (P)—Ezzard Charles has been receiving all kinds of advice on how to fight heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano but Charles Goldman says no matter what Ezzy does it won't make any difference in Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

"Rocky will flatten him whether Charles boxes or fights," said Goldman, the tiny trainer of the champion.

"We're not concerned over what kind of a fight Charles tries to make," said Goldman. "Rocky will make his own kind of a fight. The others couldn't get their way and Charles won't either."

"Rocky doesn't let them fight their fight. He just blitzes them. He's always on the attack. They've got to fight his way."

There's no secret about what Marciano intends to do. Essentially he's the same slugger who came into prominence four years ago. He'll try to bull Charles around from the opening bell, winging punches with every ounce of his muscular 185-pound frame.

"I'll try and make it as short as I can," said Rocky as he lounged about his camp yesterday. "But I'll be ready to go all the way if I have to."

Olson and Turner Relax Before Bout

HONOLULU (P)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson and Jesse Turner of St. Louis relaxed today in preparation for their 10-round nontitle fight tonight at Honolulu Stadium.

Honolulu-born Olson was favored 5-1 when he arrived last Monday but a whirlwind week of welcome-home celebrations has trimmed the margin to 4-1.

Red Cross Going Back to Previous Rule on Disasters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The American Red Cross is going back to its previous method of special disaster campaigns.

Failure of disaster-stricken communities to reimburse the Red Cross for funds advanced in time of emergency is responsible for this decision, E. Ronald Harriman, national chairman, said yesterday in addressing the national convention.

"Largely due to our reluctance in recent years to go before the public in special appeals, the generosity of the public, lacking a point of focus, has been scattered among various local funds and organizations," he said.

"Now I'll say this: when a community wishes to spend disaster funds raised by its own citizens in its own way, it has every right to do so. But first things come first.

"In Flint, Mich., when the tornado hit last June, Red Cross immediately moved in to meet the needs of the sufferers. We spent nearly $600,000, contributed by the country. Meanwhile, a committee in Flint solicited funds and received $900,000.

"Not one cent of this was turned over to the Red Cross to meet its needs. On the contrary, after Red Cross finished its job, all the money was distributed to people over and above what they had received from Red Cross, irrespective of whether they could have taken care of themselves or not.

"Communities that don't help themselves in the total responsibility of a disaster can scarcely expect in the future to be recipients of nationwide generosity."

Mac-Army Digest . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is a brief rundown on the Senate investigations subcommittee's inquiry into the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Army officials:

The Original Charges—Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams accused McCarthy and two subcommittee aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, of using improper pressures to win favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a subcommittee consultant who was drafted.

McCarthy and his aides in turn accused Stevens and Adams of trying to use Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to cause McCarthy to halt or divert an investigation of alleged subversives in the Army, particularly at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. They also accused Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel of seeking to discredit the subcommittee.

The subcommittee dismissed Carr and Hensel as principals on a 43 party-line vote May 26.

Testimony — Stevens denied trying to halt McCarthy's probe but testified he objected to methods he said gave a distorted picture. He said McCarthy's aides subjected him to threats of an "exceedingly serious" nature in seeking Army favors for Schine.

Adams testified Cohn threatened that if Schine were sent overseas Stevens would be "through as secretary" and the Army wrecked. He said Cohn brought pressure that was "extremely hard to bear."

Cohn said Stevens and Adams repeatedly sought to stop the Ft. Monmouth probe. He said Adams referred to Schine as "the hostage" and once said he would "stop at nothing" to block subcommittee questioning of members of the Army's top loyalty board.

McCarthy denied under oath seeking favors for Schine. He said some testimony by Stevens and Army officials filed "blackmail" charges against him and his aides to prevent exposure of those who "coddled" Communists.

McCarthy portrayed Stevens as a "fundamentally honest" man who was "mousetrapped" by others into a plot against McCarthy and the Republican party.

Yesterday's Highlights — Carr, temporarily replacing McCarthy on the witness stand, testified he believes the McCarthy camp charges are truthful. He contradicted in detail some earlier testimony by Stevens and Adams and pictured Adams as persistently demanding that the McCarthy investigation of the Army be side-tracked.

Carr said Adams repeatedly offered to do favors for Schine if the inquiry were halted. He quoted Adams as often referring to Schine as "the hostage" but said he couldn't be sure when Adams was joking.

He said he knew of no Army retaliation against Schine after McCarthy refused to halt the investigation.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) touched off another noisy quarrel with McCarthy by saying the McCarthy subcommittee files were "the sloppiest and most dangerous" to security he had ever seen. Symington had held high government positions since 1945. McCarthy accused the Missourian of making a "dishonest smear" of subcommittee aides working hard and loyally against Communists.

MU GRADUATE — Dr. Charles William "Bill" Monsees who was graduated from the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Missouri June 12. The degrees received were a doctor of veterinary medicine and a bachelor of science in agriculture.

Dr. Monsees has received a commission in the U. S. Army Veterinary Corps and will report to Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., July 1. He will go in as a second lieutenant and will serve for two years.

Dr. and Mrs. Monsees will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, 660 East Broadway, until they leave for Texas, July 1.

Dr. Monsees is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Monsees, route 1, Sedalia.

Gruenther Fears Time Running Out On Us In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther says "time may be beginning to run against us" in efforts to build Western Europe's defenses.

This view was made public yesterday in a summary of testimony which Gruenther gave earlier in the day at a secret session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Gruenther, commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces, testified on foreign aid.

He was quoted as saying the United States "may end up behind the eight ball" if it relaxes building Western defenses. The summary said he reported Russia is making its own forces more effective and is increasing substantially the number and value of satellite troops.

The general, however, told newsmen after the session he is "optimistic" about the general prospect in Europe.

Bradley Declines To Run for Senate

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley says he was approached by "certain parties" to be the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from California but that he declined.

Bradley, a resident of West Los Angeles here for a USO fund-raising speech last night told newsmen:

"I spent eight years in Washington, and I wouldn't go back there on a bet."

TV To Show Girls' Blood Vessels Hooked To Her Father's Heart

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A television program showing a young girl and her father with their blood vessels hooked together during a heart operation will be presented on a nationwide network during the American Medical Assn. convention next week.

The operation is for a defect in the girl's heart. To get the best results, surgeons like to operate in a "dry field"—that is, with no blood in the heart.

So they short-circuit the heart and connect the girl's veins and arteries into the circulatory system of the father.

The March of Medicine broadcast will be made over NBC TV at 10 p.m., EST, Thursday, June 24.

Fun Galore In '54, Said Of State Fair

That's the best description for this year's Missouri State Fair, according to Ross C. Ewing, Secretary. The 1954 Fair will open in Sedalia on Saturday, August 21, and continue for nine days, through August 29.

The fair management this year is laying special emphasis upon bigger and better livestock, agricultural, educational and industrial exhibits and making many changes in building interiors to allow for their better arrangement and display.

Many "firsts" appear on this year's entertainment program and include such features as "Missouri on Parade." The parade will be a climax pass in review before several national and state officials who will later participate in a formal opening of the Fair.

Other new features are "Dancing Waters," a brand new entertainment marvel that has gained world-wide recognition during the past year for its beauty, ingenious and breath-taking spectacle of colorful fountains capering rhythmically in kaleidoscopic aquatic ballet.

"Stars Over Ice" will give fairgoers in Missouri their first opportunity to witness ice skating out-of-doors in August. The show is a star-studded extravaganza with the "De-icers" and "Cubettes" performing a well-balanced program of dancing, musical and comedy numbers.

Besides the return of such popular entertainment as the 1954 Grandstand Show and Musical Revue, fireworks and carnival, and many free attractions will appear throughout the nine days in the area near the agricultural building.

The Missouri State Fair Horse Show will feature many new classes for amateurs, juniors, quarter horse and shetland pony exhibitors. With increased premiums and new classes, the show is expected to draw many more entries, some from the nation's most famous stables.

Grand Circuit Harness Racing, thrill shows and automobile races will again furnish spine tingling thrills and spills in the speed department.

All of this and more, too, at the spacious beautifully landscaped fairgrounds is the basic reason why The Missouri State Fair is recognized as one of the top-notch major fairs in the country and why the management expects this year's attendance to pass the half-million mark.

Dynamite Explodes In Strikers' Brawl

TOKYO (AP)—A dynamite stick exploded in the midst of a fist-swinging brawl between strikers and temporary employees yesterday injured 50 persons at the Omi Silk Co.

Strikers were storming barricaded gates of the company plant near Osaka.

Six thousand workers, mostly teen-age girls, struck June 4 in protest against compulsory attendance at Buddhist services, union leaders said.

Company comment was not available.

The newspaper Asahi reported these additional complaints:

Dates were banned under threat of discharge.

Cosmetics were banned, on and off the job.

All personal letters were opened and read before delivery.

Company officials searched private belongings.

Shopping trips required permission of seven supervisors.

Build Largest Kites

TOKYO (AP)—Residents of Iwatsuki, north of Tokyo, are building two of the largest kites in the world.

The box kites, 30 by 36 feet, will weigh 984 pounds each and will require 150 men each to get them off the ground.

They will be flown July 1 to celebrate the elevation of Iwatsuki from a town to a city.

Simone Silva Ordered To Leave the Country

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Immigration and Naturalization Service has ordered British actress Simone Silva to leave the country within 60 days.

Miss Silva is the actress who caused a few photographers to fall into the Mediterranean when she stripped to the waist to pose with Robert Mitchum on the French Riviera.

Herman Landon, district immigration director, said that although the actress entered the United States on a pleasure visa, she signed a movie contract and is receiving a salary.

Miss Silva asked for a work permit last week but Landon said "she did not make a sufficient showing to conclude that she is a person of unusual ability and talent or professional attainment."

Al Peiker, independent film producer who says he gave her a film contract, said he would appeal the decision, which he characterized as "ridiculous." He said her acting ability had been amply established by the nine movies she made in England.

Not a Toy Gun, After All, Victims Find

TOKYO (AP)—It was closing time at the Heiwa Sogo Bank here, in walked two desperadoes, one toting a pistol.

They ordered five frightened bank employees inside the vault.

All five were proceeding meekly until one took a second glance at the threatening weapon.

"Toy," he shouted. All five grappled with the gunmen. They heard the pistol click but fought on and subdued the holdup men.

Then they took a good look at the "toy" and shuddered. It wasn't.

Kroger Figures Crumb Potential Of All Cookies

Ever test the bite resistance of a jelly bean? Or the crumb potential of a cookie? Those are just two of the hundreds of thousands of quality-control tests carried on each year by the Kroger Food Foundation in Cincinnati, says a picture feature article in the June 25 issue of Collier's magazine.

Products sold in Kroger stores go through an elaborate testing operation at the Food Foundation. More than 600,000 sample lots of food are tested each year in the laboratories, the test kitchen, and by a taste panel. Two hundred pounds of tin cans, alone, are emptied in tests each day.

Modern food manufacturers and distributors, the article explains, make certain food is pure enough to eat, tasty enough to enjoy, and stable enough to travel well and live a long life on the pantry shelf.

In addition to the cookie-snapper and the jelly-bean-buster, the article describes such intriguing gadgets as a "jam spreader" which measures the thickness of jam so it will not drip on Junior's shirt and a "macaroni-meter" which checks the diameter and wall-thickness of spaghetti and macaroni to insure uniform cooking time.

Bell House on Mount

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government is building a bell house for lost mountain climbers in the western Honshu area.

Wandering mountain climbers can follow the peal of the bell to shelter in a house underneath the bell tower.

ROME (AP)—Italian police sources said today that Joanne Connelly Ortiz-Patino, New York socialite beauty who fled from a honeymoon with her millionaire Bolivian husband, may now be in Paris.

The fragile-appearing blonde, wed to 25-year-old Jaime Ortiz-Patino two months ago, vanished from a Rome clinic June 10.

Her husband set Italian and international police on the trail.

At a press conference yesterday, he said his 23-year-old wife entered the clinic to be cured of addiction to sleeping and stimulant pills.

No word had been received today of the missing beauty.

Segregation Vote Fails In Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's regime failed again last night to put through legislation designed eventually to take the 38,000 colored (mixed blood) voters in Cape Province off the common registration roll.

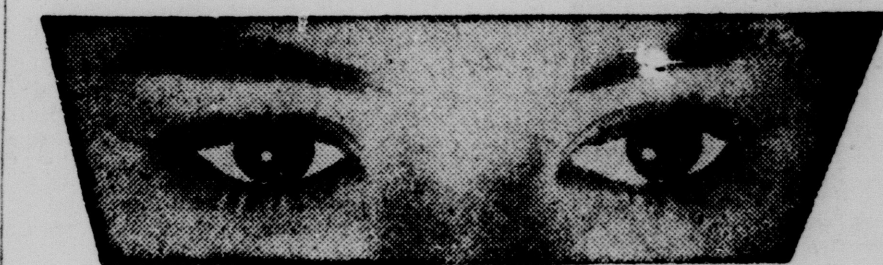

Sitting in joint session, Parliament cast 128 votes in favor of the bill—part of Malan's racial segregation program—to 42 against. But the tally fell 10 votes short of the two-thirds majority of the total 207 members needed for a constitutional change.

It was the fifth defeat Malan has suffered in the courts and Parliament in three years in his efforts to alter the colored voting registration.

THE GROWING TREND TO LINCOLN

Look at modern living on the move--then try it!

This picture gives you just a glimpse. You've got to put yourself in this picture to find out how modern your driving can be. And the way to do that is to pay us a visit. We'll give you the keys. You do the rest.

Take the new Lincoln out in traffic. First you'll notice that you can see more of the road. Lincoln's hood is low—the fenders where you can see them. It's easy to tell how near you are to the car alongside.

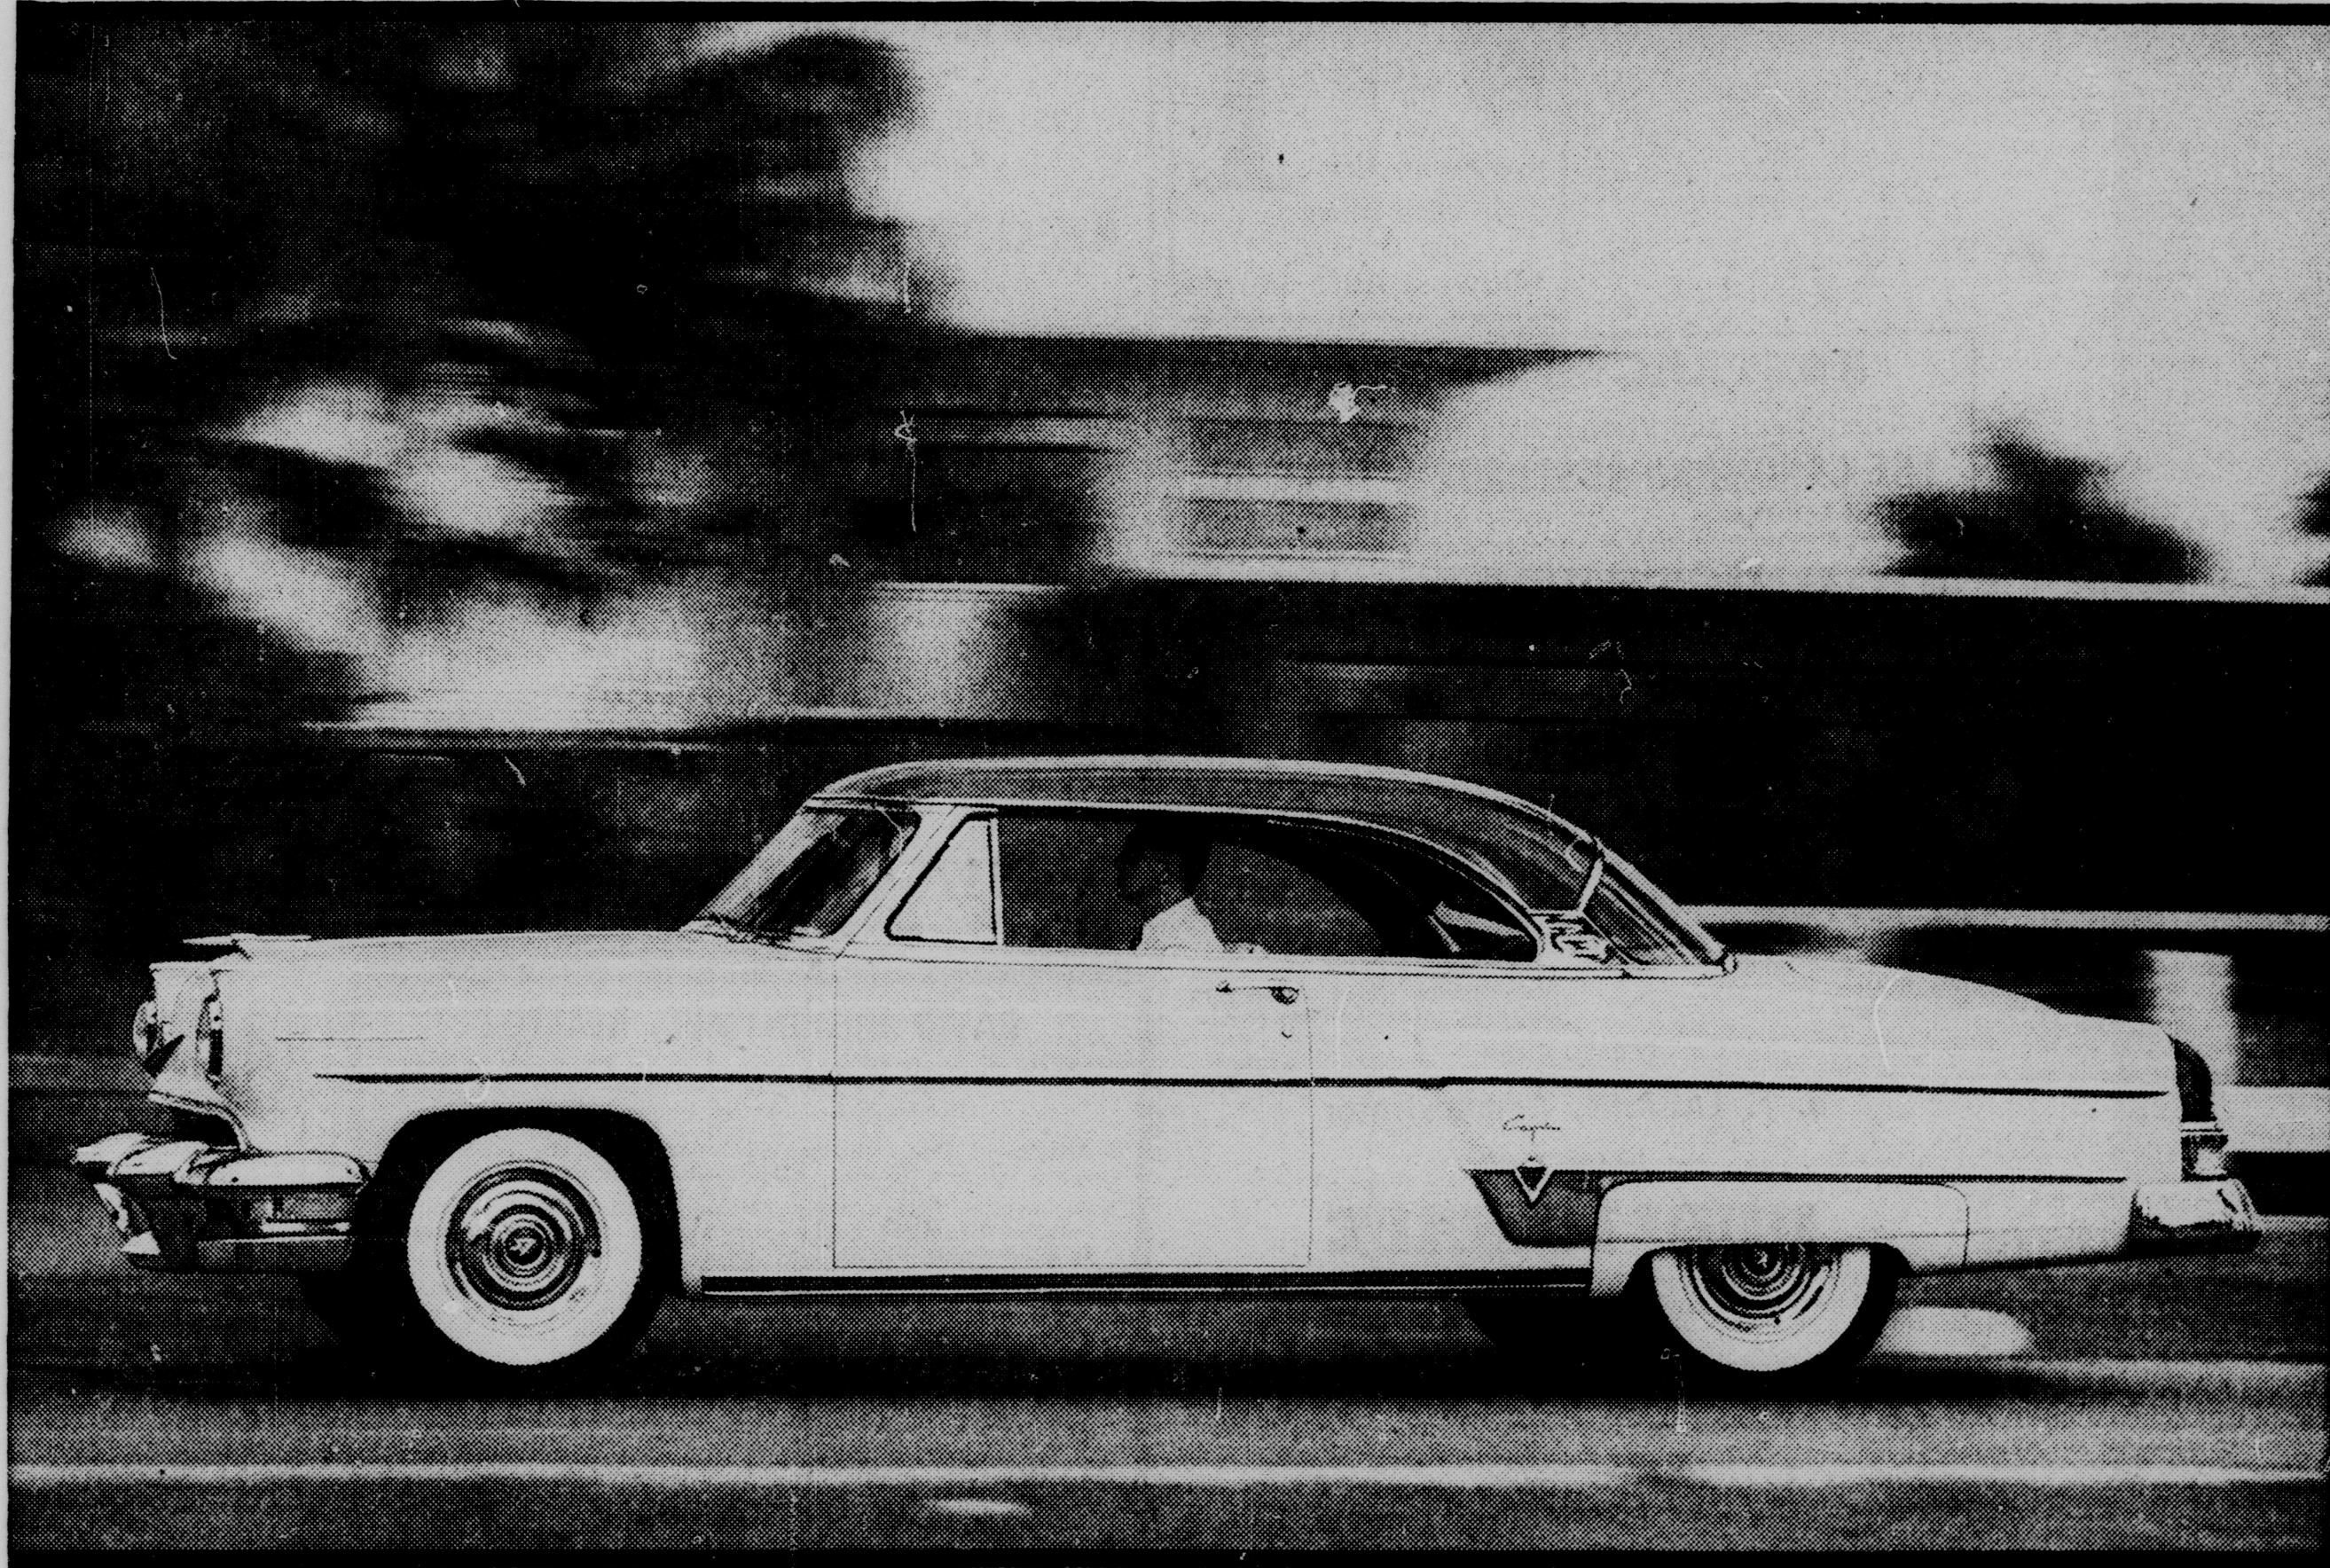

Next, head for some rugged back roads. Test Lincoln's handling on hills, around sharp curves, over ruts. You'll find you're in complete control at all times. The reason is more than metal deep. It's the hidden quality engineered in every Lincoln. Advances like the precision-balanced chassis, ball-joint front suspension, and variable-rate springs.

Then take Lincoln out on a parkway. Whatever happened to that traffic that was ahead? You feel a supreme confidence for you command the mighty Lincoln V-205 engine—the finest of high-output, low-friction designs to come from the most experienced of V-8 builders. The gentlest touch of your toe lets you surge ahead because of Lincoln's new vacuum-controlled 4-barrel carburetor.

Do more than look at modern living on the move. Come in and try it.

For the fourth straight year, Lincoln wins first place in its field for economy in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run.
